

Apprentice in nationals

Scott Zeller . . . out to beat the world.

CABINETMAKER Scott Zeller will take on Australia's best when he competes in the Work Skill national building skills final next week.

The 20-year-old Normanhurst resident will travel to Melbourne after winning the NSW final in his craft.

Scott will compete against 150 other top apprentices later this month in a week-long contest.

An employee at Castle Hill firm Hammercraft, Scott will have the chance to win a place in Australia's team for the International Skill Olympics in Taiwan in July.
